

Showcasing your trophies from Wisconsin woods and lakes

Pyro poses with four drake mallards and two drake wood ducks taken by his owner, Shawn Genung of Janesville, and his two hunting partners in late October. The group was hunting flooded timber in southern Wisconsin and ended up with a three-man limit of mallards and wood ducks.

Steve Rumlow of Oshkosh shot this 6-pointer in Adams County on Oct. 31. The buck had a 17 5/8-inch spread and dressed out at 165 pounds.

Rob Kertscher and his son, Logan, 18, of Kewauskum harvested this 14-point buck of a lifetime on Oct. 31 near Adell. Logan took the initial shot and connected a little lower than planned and ended up with a belly shot. Rob, who was 100 yards away, made the fatal shot moments later. The buck had a 19 1/2-inch spread and weighed 185 pounds.

Nate Hecht of Greenville arrowed this 8-pointer in rural Outagamie County on Nov. 5 during the first 15 minutes in his stand.

Lucas Elskamp, 15, of Winneconne shot this buck on opening morning in Grant County.

Amy Schuh trapped this large male coyote near Pine River in rural Waushara County.

Mark Kanitz of Markesan used a crossbow to score this 15-point buck back on Nov. 2 near Hixton. He wasn't even trying to hunt that day. He'd been chain sawing and brush cutting in sweaty clothes with his Rhino parked below the stand. When he saw the buck, he thought it would spook at the sight of the Rhino or the smell of his clothes – but it didn't.

Ron Cotter used his TenPoint crossbow to register his first Boone & Crockett class whitetail on Sept. 30. The buck was taken on his farm in Stoughton and scored 170-6/8 typical. The dressed weight was 252 pounds.

Brenna Shea caught this 20-inch largemouth bass while fishing Lake Mendota in Madison last June.

Olivia Bush caught this 5-pounder in July on Green Lake while fishing with her boyfriend. It was on her first cast of the day, and she thought at first she snagged some weeds.

Maya Shea caught this 15-inch smallie while fishing Lake Mendota in Madison last June.

LITTLE BIGSHOTS

Deanna Welch captured this 7-point buck on the last night of the 2018 youth gun hunt over a hayfield near Marion. It was her first time ever harvesting a deer.

Jace Tojek caught this 19 7/8-inch walleye on Castle Rock Lake near Adams this past July. It was his first solo-caught walleye.
